

Fun with CONJUNCTIONS

AND

OR

BUT

FOR

YET

SO

NOR

Jennifer Reis

www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/The-Upper-Elementary-Classroom

Having Fun with Conjunctions: Meet ANDorBUT FORyetSONor!

Andorbut Foryetsonor is a great way to introduce students to conjunctions. Hang the printables to help students remember that they can use him to help them combine sentences! Students will love saying his name, and when they first learn it, there's usually A LOT of giggling! That's okay! It's assurance that your students will definitely remember Mr. Foryetsonor and HOPEFULLY they will think of him while they are writing too!

On page 3, there's an empty frame. I find it's usually most fun to let the students guess what he looks like, before showing them the actual Andorbut Foryetsonor. It engages the students and gets them excited.

On pages 4 and 5, you will find reference printables to hang in your classroom.

Page 6 contains a practice worksheet. Students practice using conjunctions and fill in the blanks.

Answers to Page 6

- | | |
|------------|---------|
| 1. and | 2. or |
| 3. so | 4. but |
| 5. so | 6. but |
| 7. or | 8. nor |
| 9. but/yet | 10. and |
| 11. but | 12. for |

Visit and follow

<http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/The-Upper-Elementary-Classroom> for more!

Math Activities
Literacy
Time-saving Newsletter Templates
Lots of FREEBIES and MORE!

Acknowledgements

Fonts: TpT - The Newsletter Store
<http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/>

Similar Products

COMMON CORE Persuasive
Writing with Paula

Extending Multiplication Facts with Steady Freddy

Name: _____

What do YOU think he looks like?

Introducing...

MR. ANDOR BUT FORYETSONOR

MR. ANDOR BUT FORYETSONOR

CONJUNCTIONS

And - Use to join two thoughts.

* Example: Suzy heard the weather report AND promptly grabbed her umbrella.

Or - Use to mean one or the other.

* Example: We can eat leftovers, OR we can order pizza.

But - Use to highlight contrast between the first and second part of a sentence.

* Example: I want to buy a Wii U, BUT I haven't saved enough money yet.

For - Use to explain something further.

* Example: Charlie was happy to just sit for a while, FOR she had just finished running five miles.

Yet - Use to add information.

* Example: Jack plays baseball, YET his favorite sport is basketball.

So - Use to show a consequence.

* Example: Mom was hungry, SO she made a sandwich.

Nor - Often used with the word

"neither." Use like "OR" in negative contexts.

* Example: That's neither what I said NOR what I meant.

Name: _____

CONJUNCTION FUN

(With ANDorBUT FORyetSONor)

Fill in the blanks using these words:

AND, OR, BUT,
FOR, YET, SO, NOR

1. I like tea _____ coffee.
2. Which do you think is most important: to eat well _____ to exercise?
3. Aunt Sue is coming to visit, _____ we need to be home on time.
4. I looked everywhere, _____ I couldn't find my bracelet.
5. I will study tonight, _____ I can do well on tomorrow's test.
6. It's supposed to rain, _____ I think we will still play our baseball game.
7. We can drive to the game, _____ we can take the bus.
8. She likes neither spiders _____ snakes.
9. Sam doesn't like broccoli, _____ she gave it a second try anyway.
10. Jim _____ Erik went to the movies with me.
11. I wanted to watch a show on T.V., _____ my sister got there first.
12. Lola went to a restaurant, _____ it was time to eat lunch.

*Write a sentence of your own using each of the conjunctions:

AND, OR, BUT, FOR, YET, SO, NOR

(on the back)